Quo warranto

4 ¶ For aſmuch as writs of Quo warranto, & iudgement geuen vppon pleas of the ſame, were greatly delayed, becauſe ỳ iuſtices in géeuinge iudgement were not certified of the kings pleaſure therin. Our ſoueraigne lord the king, at his parliamēt holden at Weſtminſter after the feaſt of Eaſter the xviii. yere of his raigne, of hys ſpecial grace, & for the ſinguler affection ỳ he beareth vnto his prelats, Earles, & barons, and other of his realme: hath graūted that al, vnder his allegeamce, as wel ſpirituall as other, which can proue & verifie by enqueſt in the entre, or other wyſe that they and their anneſtors or predeceſſors, haue vſed any maner liberttes, wherof they were impleded by the ſayd writs before the time of king Richard our coſin, or in our time, and haue continued hitherto (ſo that they haue not miſuſed ſuch liberties) that the parties ſhalbe adiourned further vnto a certaine day reaſonable before the ſame Iuſtices, within the which they may go to our ſoueraigne Lord the kinge with the Record of the Iuſtices ſigned wỏ his ſeale, and alſo returne. And the kinge by his letters patents ſhal confirme their eſtate. And they that can not proue ỳ ſeyſon of their anneſtors, in ſuch maner as is before declared, ſhalbee ordred and iudged after the law and cuſtome of the Realme, and ſuch as haue ỳ kings chartors, ſhalbe iudged according to their chartors. Moreouer ỳ king of his ſpecial grace hath graunted that al iudgementes that are to be geuen in pleas of Quo warranto, by his iuſtices at weſtminſter, after the foreſaid Eaſter, for the king him ſelfe, yf the parties grœued will come agayne before the king, he of his grace ſhal geue thē ſuch remedy, as before is mencyoned. Alſo our ſoueraigne Lord hath graunted, for ſparing the coſts and expences of his people, that pleas of Quo warranto, from henceforth ſhalbée pleaded & determined in the circuit of the Iuſtices, and that all pleas now depending ſhalbe adiourned into the ſhires vntil the cōming of ỳ Iuſtices into thoſe parties. 2 ¶ Whereas in the statut against fugitiues departing out of this realme made in the last parliament. (s. 13. El. ca. 3. before 1.) amongst other things it is ordeined, ỹ the offendors against that statut, shal forfayt & lose to our soueraigne Lady the Quæne, ỹ whole profits of al their manors, lands, tenements, and hereditaments during their liues, sithens which time some doubt and question vpon the said words hath risen, & bene moued. Whether her Maiestie, her heires and successors, may let & set ỹ same lands, or make graunts by copies of Court roll thereof, and vsual woodsales, or els shal onely take the ordinary profits as they rise, as vesturam terræ, and not otherwise. And whereas in the sayd statut, one braunch or clause is contained for the making voyd of fraudulent cõueiances by the said fugitiues, of their lands & goods, made to thintent and vpon priuy confidence, that the profits may be ꝑfited as they should limit & agree: vpõ the words of which clause, some doubt and question hath also risen, & ben moued, whether the conueyance (to thintent aforesaid) made by such fugities as depart out of the realme hauing licence, & do not returne into this realme according to their licence, & intent of the said statut, shalbe within ỹ prouision of the said statut, vnles their determination of not returninge according to their licence, be proued to be before the making of the sayd fraudulent conueyance, as a thing material, before the making of the said conueyance, or whether the same determination of not returning according to the sayd licence, be not so material, but that the same shal by the subsequent act (that is to say) by the not returning of the said partie according to the sayd licence, be sufficiẽtly proued without any further matter. For auoyding of which doubts, be it declared, & explained, and ordeined by authority of this Parliament, that during so long time as her maiestie, her heires or successors, shalbe entituled to haue the said profits by vertue of the said statute, shee & they may let and set, & make graunts by copie of Court rolle, & vsual wood sales & other things, to all intents and purposes, as a tenaunt pur terme dauter vie lawfully may do. But note that the ſelling, exchanginge or deliuering of any horſe, gelding or mare into Scotlande without licence, is felony at this day by 1. Elizabeth. cap. 8. here next following.

☞ 9 ¶ Where in the parliament holden at London the third day of Nouember, in the xxj. yere of the raygne of the late kinge of moſt worthye memory kinge Henry the eight, and from thence adiourned and prorogued to Weſtminſter, and there continued by diuers prorogations, vntil the 15. day of Januarye in the xxiij. yere of the raygne of the ſayd late king, amongſt other things (vvhich See before in Felony 13.) there was one act or ſtatute made whereby the ſelling exchaunging, or deliuerie of any horſes, geldinges, or mares into Scotland by any Engliſhman, ſhoulde be felonye, which act or ſtatut is intituled, an act that no Engliſh man ſhoulde ſel, exchange, or deliuer to be conueyed into Scotland, any horſe, gelding or mare, without the kinges licence, as by the ſame act and ſtatut more at large doth and may appeare. And although the ſame eſtatute was a very good & neceſſarie law for the maintenãce of ẏ ſtrẽgth of this Realme, & for ẏ due preſeruation of ẏ ſtate of the ſame, yet ẏ ſaid ſtatut by a certein act of repeale, made aſwell in the time of ẏ late King Ed. the 6. as alſo in ẏ time of Quéene Mary, was by certeine generall words repealed and made voide, by reaſon whereof, diuers wicked & euill diſpoſed perſons, haue of late tyme for their owne priuate gayne, conueyed diuers Horſes, geldings & mares out of this realme into Scotland, to ẏ great ſtrength and boldening of the Scottiſh, and much to the detriment and hinderaunce of this realme. Wherefore be it enacted &c. ẏ the ſaid act & ſtatut made in the ſaid 23. yere of the raygne of the ſayd late kinge Henry the eight, and al & euery braunch, ſentences, articles, wordes, matters and clauſes, therin contained, ſhal from the firſt day of May next comming, ſtand, remaine, & continue in ful force and ſtrength, to all intentes and purpoſes, as fully and as wholy as euer the ſame was at any time heretofore, any act or ſtatut of repeale, or any other matter or cauſe whatſoeuer to ẏ contrary notwithſtanding. 10 ¶ Where in the parliament holden at weſtminſter in the firſt yere of ẏ raigne of the late king Ed. the 6. brother to our ſoueraigne lady the Quéenes maieſtie ẏ now is, amongſt diuers other ſtatuts, there was one act and ſtatute made againſt the carying & conueying of any horſes, geldinges, or mares, out of this Realme (vvhich See here before 8.) in which act amongſt other things there is one prouiſo or braunch conteined in theſe words hereafter following. That is to ſay. Prouided alwayes, that it ſhalbe lawful to euerie of the kings ſubiects that ſhal paſſe ouer beyond the ſea, to ſhyp & carry with them, Horſes and Geldings for their onely occupation in their iourneis, and not to the intent to ſel the ſame beyond the ſea, & the intent to be iudged by the Othe of him or thẽ that ſo will carry ouer any horſe or gelding, which othe ſhalbee taken before the Cuſtomer or ſearcher, or their deputies, of euery ſuch port where the ſame horſe or gelding ſhalbe ſhipped, before the ſhippyng therof, as by the ſame act & Prouiſo it doth & may appeare. And although &c. that al the ſaid Prouiſo & braunch before rehearſed, mẽcioned & conteined within the ſaid act & ſtatut, & euery article and ſentence conteyned within ẏ ſaid Prouiſo, ſhal from henceforth be repealed, made voide, & of none effect, & that all the reſidue of the ſaid act & ſtatute, ſhal ſtand, remaine, and be in full ſtrength: any thing herein ſpecified to the contrarie notwithſtandinge. entendment rẽdifie or build vp al the same houses againe. And for asmuch also as some perchaunce haue erected and builded vppe new houses in some other places vpon the same lands lying to the said houses, or vpõ some other land nẽre thereunto, in lieuwe and place of the house decayed, which are as available to the common wealth, as the new rẽdifying of the decated houses in the old places should be, in which cases equitie requireth, they should not be punished for ẏ said decay. And for asmuch as it is like to be that some ground conuerted frõ tillage into pasture, is deuided into diuers smal parcels remaining & being in diuers & seueral mens hands, so ẏ any one part, will not be sufficyent to kẽpe any plough vpon. And for that some grounds haue bene tilled for destroying of mosse, bushes, brome, fyrzes, heath, & not only to be continued in tillage, & such like. And that also some demeanes in the absence of the owners, haue bene deuyded, to sundrye occupiers, who haue tylled the same, not bẽing commonly vsed to tillage, before the said feast of Saint George, & for that diuers other particuler causes may fortune to be, which the general puruetance of this estatut cannot remedy, without greater hurt then good to be don to ẏ same. And for that also that in some places of this realme, it is not necessarie, the puruey of this estatut to extend & to be fully executed, but in some places and vpon some occasions or causes, it may more conueniently be spared then put in vse, & is therefore necessarie to referre such things withal other circumstãces, to the discretions of the cõmissioners, who may more perfectly vnderstande the same. Be it therefore ordeined & enacted by auctoritie of this present parliament, that the sayd commissioners, or fower of them at the least, whereof two to be of the Quorum, shal and may consider the sayd cases, & such other like, and vse their discretions, in tempering & qualifiyng of the said general puruetance of this or any of the foresaid former estatuts, & in ordering of the said cases, and such other like, and to omit the execution and penalty of this act, and of the other former actes, accordinglye, as to the wisedomes & discretions of them or fower of them at the least, whereof two to be of ẏ Quorum, shalbe thought most necessarie: This act or the aforesaid former acts in any wise not withstandinge. And shall haue power & auctority to cancel recognisances taken before them, & not appearing to them forfayted, if it shall seeme to them or iiij. of of them, whereof ij. to be of the Quorum, meete & conuenient. And it is further ordered & enacted &c. that where as any ground by meanes of this act, shall fortune hereafter to be cõuerted from pasture into tillage, according to the entent of this act, which ground is chargeable with any rent reserued, since the time ẏ same ground was conuerted from tillage to pasture, & which was reserued & made the greater, in consideration ẏ the same was so conuerted from tillage into pasture, or stored with cunnies: ẏ all such rentes, if they bee greater then the ground turned into tillage, or the ground by reason of ẏ destruction of cũnies is worth: shalbe abated & aporcioned by the sayd cõmissioners or fower of them, whereof wee wil two of thẽ to be of ẏ Quorum, according to their discretions, if they shal think ẏ same so meete. Prouided alwaies & be it enacted, by ẏ auctoritie aforesaid, ẏ the retaining or none payment of any such part or porcions of any rentes, that shalbee abated or deducted by the commissioners as is aforesaid, shalbe no breach or forfaiture of any bond, penaltie, couenant, graunt or condition, to bee conteyned in any indenture, bonde obligatorie, or other writinge agreement or promise: whatsoeuer to ẏ contrary not withstandinge. And be it further enacted by the auctoritie aforesayde, that the said cõmissioners or fower of them, whereof two of them to be of the Quorum, shal haue power & auctoritie by vertue hereof, to make & direct forth precepts & processes, as wel to the sherife of the countie, as to all other freeholders & persons that ought to attend or appeare before the sayd commissioners, for the tryall, aunsweringe or proning of any offence against this statut, or against any of ẏ aforesaid former statuts, to appeare before thẽ at any day & time ẏ the said commissioners, or iiij. of them, whereof two to bee of the Quorum, shall limit or appoint, & vppon the apparaunce of the sayd persons to geue day ouer from time to time as they shal thinke meete. And be it further enacted &c. that if any such person or persons as presentlye haue or hereafter shall haue, any houses builded, or redified, or to be redified, or any grounds to be conuerted to tillage, according to the tenure & effect of this estatut, or any of ẏ aforesaid statuts, ẏ then ẏ said person or persõs, their heires, or assignes, next parliament. An. 2. & 3. P. & M. cap. 2. This act was continued 4. & 5. P. & M. ca. 9. And 1. El. cap. 9. to the end of the next parliament. But See heere the note next following.

Repealed

6 ¶ The 2. statutes (4. & 5. before) are repealed by the statut now following. And yet see a prouiso in the last end, of this next statut here of, whether so much of the sayd two statuts is left in force as forbiddeth cõuerting of Tillage to pasture in such eases vvhere the same is not forbidden by this statut followyng here 7.

7 ¶ For as much as the statut 4. H. 7. ca. 19. (before 1. & one other statut made 7. H. 8. cap. 1. (before 2.) and the statut made 27. H. 8. cap. 22. (before 3.) are very good & profitable lawes for the cõmon wealth. It is therefore ordeined &c. that the said acts & euery of them, and euery braunch & article in the same, & euery of thẽ contained, shall from henceforth bee put in due execution & remaine & continue in force for euermore. And also where by an act made in the xxbij yere of the raigne of our said late soueraign lord king Henry the 8. wherby diuers and sundry religious houses of Monkes, Chanons & Nunnes which might not dispende in lãds, tenements, & hereditamẽts, aboue the clere yerely value of CC. li. were geuen to the sayd late king Hẽry the 8. his heires or successors for euer (which See monasteries 9.) It is among other things enacted & ordeined, that al & singuler persons, & bodies politike & corporate, to whom the sayd late king Henry the 8. his heires & successours, after the makinge of the same act, should geue, graunt, let or demise any Site or precinct, with the houses thereuppon builded together with ỳ demeanes of any Monasteries, Priories or other religious houses, that should be dissolued or geuen to the sayd late king Henry the eight by that act, & the heires, successours, or assignes of euery such person, bodies politike and corporat, should kẽpe or cause to be kept an honest continuall house and household in the same Site or precinct, and should occupy or cause to be occupied yerely as much of the demeanes in ploughing and Tillage of husbandrie (that is to say) as much of the sayd demeanes which thẽ were commonly vsed to be kept in Tillage by the gouernours, Abbotes, or Priours of the same houses, Monasteries, or priories, or by their fermour or fermours occupyinge the same, within the tyme of xx. yeres next before that act, vppon payne to forfait to the kinges highnesse, for euery moneth so offendinge vi. pounde thirteene shillinges, and fower pence, to bee recouered to his vse, in any of his Courts of Recorde. And ouer that, by the same statute it is enacted that al Justices of peace in euery shire where any such offence should be committed and done contrary to the true meaning and intent of that act or statut, should in euery quarter & general Sessions within the limittes of their Cõmission, enquire of the premisses, and should haue ful power and authoritie to heare and determine the same, and to tax and assesse no lesse fine for euery the said offences, then is before limitted for the sayd offence, and estreates therof to be made and certified into the kinges Eschequer, accordinge and at such time and fourme, as other estreates of fynes, issues and amerciamentes bee made by the same Justices, as by the same act more at large doth appeare. Which part of the sayd act concerning keepinge of house and household in the said Sites and precinctes, & occupying of such demeanes of the same in tillage, as is aforesaid, then was & yet it is thought very beneficial to the common wealth, and most needefull to bee put in due execution. Be it therefore enacted by the authoritie aforesaid, that the sayd braunches & articles of the sayd estatute last aboue mencioned, made in the said seuen and twentye yere of our sayde late Soueraigne Lorde kinges Henry the eyght, and euery penaltie and thinge touchinge the same, bee also from henceforth put in due execution and shal remayne and contynue in their full force and vertue, accordinge to the good entent and meaning of the same last recyted Statute: Any thinges in this present act to be hereafter contayned to the contrarye notwithstanding. ✱

And for as much as there hath bẽne sithen the making of the said statut, certaine other lawes and statutes made in the tyme of our late soueraigne Lord kinge Edward the first, (vvhich See before 4.) & in ỳ time of our late Soueraigne, king Philippe and Quẽne Mary, (vvhich See before 5.) for the rẽdifying of decayed houses of husbandry, and for the encrease of Tillage, which being in some partes therof vnperfect, and in some places to mylde & gentle, haue not brought to ỳ decated state of tillage & of houses of husbandry, ỳ long looked for remedy, which

which was then hoped for. Be it therefore enacted by thauctority aforesaid, ẏ the said lawes and statutes made in the times of the said late kinge Edwarde the firt, and king Philip and Quéene Mary, touchinge and concerning the decay of houses of husbandry, and for the encrease of tillage, and euery article and thinge in them & euery of them contained, shalbe from henceforth repealed and made void to al ententes & purposes. And be it &c. that from and after the feast of ẏ Annunciation of our Lady, which shalbe in the yere of our Lord God, 1564. al such landes and groundes, or so much in quantitie as in any Towne, village, Hamlet, Lordship, place knowen, or parish with in the Realme of England or Wales, haue bene eyred or plowed and put in Tillage in any one yere and so kept in Tillage by the space of fower yeres, any time sithence the feast of S. George the Martir in ẏ xx. yere of the raigne of king Henry the eight (other then the said demeanes of the said late monasteries priories, and Religious houses, geuen as is aboue rehearsed to the said late king Henry the eight in the said xxvij. yere of his raygne) shalbée eyred, plowed, vsed and kept in Tillage or caused to bee eired, plowed, vsed and kept in tillage for euer, according to the nature of the soyle and custome of the Countrie, by the occupier or occupiers thereof, without fraude or collusion, vppon paine that euery offendour contrarie to this act, shal lose and forfait perelye for euery Acre x.s. which forfaiture shal goe and bée in manner and fourme followinge. That is to say, to such personne or personnes as bée nert in reuersion or remainder therof, for terme of life, liues or in taile, their executours or administratours. And that by the auctority of this act, it shalbe lawfull for him or them to leuye the same penaltie and forfaiture of x. s. for euery acre by distres, and to iustifie or make their auowries or cognisaunces for ẏ same, in such manner and fourme as any person or persons may do for rentes reserued vpon estate, or estates made for terme of yeres of any lande or tenementes: or otherwise shal and may sue for the same penaltie and forfaiture by action of debt, bill, plaint, or information in any court of Recorde of the Quéene our Soueraigne Lady, her heires or successours, wherein no wager of lawe, essoigne, or protection, shalbée allowed or admitted for the partie defendaunt. And yf they or any of them do not distrayne, or otherwise clayme or demaunde the said penaltie and forfayture by any the wayes or meanes aforesayd, within the space of one whole yere nert after the offence done in fourme abouesayd, and pursue for the same with effect, without fraude or coum, and do not recouer (and might haue recouered the same) with such spéede as may bée by the due order of the lawe: That then after such default, it shalbe lawfull for him or them to whome the reuersion or remaynder of the fee simple of the sayd land shall appertaine, their executours or administratours, to distraine, auow, or make cognisaunce, and iustifie, or otherwise to sue for the sayd forfayture and paynes in fourme aforesayd, at any time within one yere nert ensuing any such default. And in hys or their default, the said penaltie or forfaiture, to go and bée to the immediat Lord or Lordes of the fee or fées, of whom the said landes béene holden, to be recouered in manner and forme aforesayde, so that hée or they do take and sue for his or their remedy therein, within one yere nert ensuinge any such default, in manner and fourme aforesayd. And in hys and their default, the sayd penaltie and forfaiture to goe and be to the Quéenes hyghnesse, her heires, and successours, to be recouered by any of the meanes or remedies aforesayde, at any tyme or times at her or their willes and pleasures, or otherwise to any other person or persons that wil sue, as well for the Quéenes maiestie, her heires and successors, as for him or them selues, for the same pain and forfaitures, vpon which suit, the one moitie shal be, and go, to the Quéenes maiestie, her heires, or successors, and the other to him or them that so will sue for the same, by action of debt, bill, plaint, or information, in any of ẏ Quéens courts of recorde, wherein no essoigne, protection, or wager of lawe, shalbée admitted or allowed for the party defendant. And be it &c. that if any person or persons being an occupier & owner of any such landes & grounds as is aforesaid, of any estate of inheritance, shal offend against the fourme of this act: That thé the said penaltie & forfaiture, shal go and be to the nert immediate Lorde or Lords of the fee or fées thereof, his or their executours or administratours, to bee recouered by such waies and meanes, as before is limitted and appointed, so that he or they dw pursue and take their remedye for the same

And where also by the said Statut of H. 7. the meaning of the makers thereof appeareth to bee, that every house of husbandry, having xx. acres of land or more, belonginge or lying thereunto, or with the same commonly occupied, used, or demised, the same xx. acres or more should not be severed or deuided from ỹ said house or houses, but should bee demised, occupied, or used together, for the better maintenance of every such house or houses, and of tillage and husbandry. Be it therefore enacted, that no person or persons whatsoeuer, having or that hereafter shal have, any such house or houses of husbandry, with xx. acres of lande or more, belonging or lying thereunto, or with the same commonly occupied, used, or demised, shal from and after the first day of this present Parliament, sever, or deuyde, the saide xx. acres of lands or more, nor any part thereof, from any of the saide house or houses, vnlesse the same bee kept in tillage, or otherwise for the profit of husbandry, accordinge to the nature of the ground, or according to the custome of the manors, where the same land shal so be, vpon the paines and forfaitures contained in the said estatute of Henry the 7. to be taken in such forme, as by the same Statute appeareth, except hee or they shal lay and assigne to the said house or houses, or to any other house or houses, being within the same parish or Lordship, or within two miles of the said houses (being also not bound to bee mainteined and vpholden by fourme of the said statute of kinge Henry the seuenth) as much other land within the same parish, or Lordshipe, wythin two miles, as is aboue-said, for and in lieu of such, or so much of the former land, as ought to haue continued by force of the said statut, vnto the former house, & cannot conueniently be returned to ỹ said former house. And bee it &c. that if any such house or houses of husbandry and land, bee deuided or severed, the one from the other, by reason of any lease or leases, for terme of life, lives, or for terme of yeares, made or graunted before the first day of thys present Parliament: that then, whensoeuer ỹ sayd lease or leases shall ende or determyne, by any maner of meanes, so as the same house or houses, & lands thereunto belonging, shal be discharged of al such leases: ỹ same house and houses and landes so demised, shall not afterwardes be severed or deuided, the one from the other, but shal go, be kept, and occupied together at all times after, according to the declaration before mencioned, vppon the paines and forfaitures last before specified, and to be taken also, as in the said statut is mencioned. Except by the returning, or remitting of the same lande to the sayde house, there shal or may grow any manifest decaye of any other houses newly edified, or of any other fermes that hath bene by meanes of distribution or seueraunce of the land or lands, or any part thereof made or assygned, to bee seuerall tenementes or holdes. And where in the said Statut made in the sayd seuenth yere of the raigne of the said kinge Henry the eyght, among other thynges in the same it is enacted, that if sithence the first day of the same Parliament, any landes which at the same first day, or sithence the same fyrste daye were commonlye vsed in Tyllage, were inclosed, or from thencefoorth should bee inclosed and turned onely to pasture, whereby any house of husbandry then was, or hereafter should be decayed, that then all suche lands should bee by the owner or owners thereof, their heires, successors, or assignes, or other for them, within one yere next ensuyng the same decay, put in tillage, and exercised, used, and occupied in husbandry and tillage, as they were the first day of ỹ same parliament, or at any time sithence, and after the manner and vsage of the countrey where such lands did lye, as by the said acte more playnely may appeare. And for as much as vpon the said part of the said Statut, diuers doubts and questions haue bene moued heretofore. Be it therefore enacted and declared by auctoritie aforesaid, that if at any time sithence the making of the said act, & before the said feast of S. George, in the said xx. yere of the raigne of the said late king Henry the 8. any landes belonging to any such house of husbandry, as is aforesaid, haue bene turned from tillage to pasture, by any person or personnes: that then the same lands, or so much other landes, beyng within the same parishe, lordship, or mannour, that heretofore was not lyable or bound by any lawe or statute to be kept in tillage: shalbee turned againe into tillage,

2 ¶ Ye ſhall ſweare, that well and lawfully ye ſhal ſerue our ſouereigne lorde the king, & his people in ỳ office of iuſtice, and ỳ lawfully ye ſhall counſaile the king in his buſines, and that yee ſhall not counſaile, nor aſſent to any thing, which may turne hym to damage or diſherſõ, by any maner way or colour. And that ye ſhal not know ỳ damage or diſherſon of him whereof ye ſhall not do him to be warned by your ſelfe or by other, and that ye ſhall do euen law & execution of right, to all his ſubiects, rich & poore, without hauing regard to any perſon. And ỳ ye take not by your ſelfe or by other priuily nor apertly, gift nor reward of gold nor ſiluer, nor of any other thinge which maye turne to your profit, vnleſſe it bee meate or drinke, and of ſmal valure, of any man that ſhall haue ante plea or proces hãging before you, as long as the ſame proces ſhall ſo bee hanging, nor after the ſame cauſe, And that ye take no fee, as long as yee ſhalbe Juſtice, nor robes of any man great or ſmall, but of the king him ſelfe. And that yee geeue none aduiſe, nor counſayle to no man great nor ſmall, in no caſe where the kinge is partie. And in caſe that ante, of what eſtate or condition they be, come before you in your ſeſſions, with force and armes, or otherwiſe againſt the peace, or againſt the forme of the ſtatute thereof made, to diſtourbe execution of the common law, or to manace the people, that they may not purſue the lawe, that ye do their bodies to bee arreſted, and put in priſon: And in caſe they be ſuch, that ye may not arreſt them, that ye certifie the kyng of their names, and of their miſpriſion haſtely ſo that he may thereof ordeyne a conenable remedy: And that ye by your ſelfe, nor by other priuily nor appertly, maintaine anye plea or quarell hanging in the kinges court or elſe where in the countrey: And that yee deny to no man common right, by ỳ kings letters, nor none other mans, nor for none other cauſe, and in caſe ante letters come to you contrary to the law, that ye do nothing by ſuch let, but certify the king thereof, and go forth to do the lawe, notwithſtandinge the ſame letters. And that yee ſhall do and procure the profite of the kinge, and of hys crowne, with all things where ye may reaſonably do the ſame. And in caſe yee bee frõ henceforth founde in default in anye of the pointes aforeſaide, yee ſhalbe at the kinges will, of bodie, lands and goodes, thereof to bee done as ſhall pleaſe hym, as God you helpe and all Saintes. Diſtreine

When chiefe lords diſtraine in their fee for Cuſtomes & ſeruices to them due, and there is a meane which ought to acquite ỹ tenant, ſithence it lyeth not in the mouth of the tenant, after ỹ he hath replenied the diſtreſſe, to deny ỹ demaund of the chiefe Lord which auoweth in the kings court, that the diſtreſſe is lawfully taken vppon his tenāt, which is vppon the meane, and many haue bene ſore greeued by ſuch diſtreſſes, in ſo much as the meane (not withſtanding that he hath ſufficiēt, wherby he may be diſtrained) doth make long delaies, before he wil come into the court to aunſwere for his tenant, vnto the writ of meane, & moſt harde of al when the meane had nothing. In caſe alſo when the tenant was ready to doo hys ſeruices and Cuſtomes vnto his Lord, and the chief Lord would refuſe to take ſuch ſeruice and cuſtomes by the handes of any other then of his next tenaunt, and ſo ſuch tenants, in demeane loſt ſome whiles the profitts of their lands for a time, and ſome whiles for their whole tyme, and hitherto no remedy hath bene prouided in this caſe: A remedy is prouided and ordained in this forme, that ſo ſone as ỹ tenant in demeane (hauing a meane betwene him & the chiefe lord) is diſtrained, incontinent the tenaunt ſhal purchaſe his writ of meane. And if the meane hauing land in the ſame county, abſent him ſelfe vntill the great diſtres bee awarded, the plaintife ſhal haue ſuch day giuen him in his writ of great Diſtres, afore the comming wherof ij. Counties may bee holden, & the ſherife ſhalbe commaunded to diſtraine the Meane by the great diſtreſſe, like as it is contened in the writ. And neuertheles the ſherife in two ſul cōūties ſhal cauſe to be proclaimed ſolempnely, that the Meane do come at a day contayned in the writ, for to aunſwere his tenant, at which day if he come, the plee ſhall paſſe betwene them after the common vſage. And if he do not come, then he ſhall leeſe the ſeruices of his tenaunt, and from thenceforth, the tenaunt ſhal not aunſwere him in any thing, but the ſame Meane beeinge excluded, he ſhall aunſwere vnto the chief Lord for ſuch ſeruices and cuſtomes as the meane vſed to do before that tyme. Neither ſhall the chiefe Lorde haue power to diſtraine, ſo long as the aforeſaid tenaunt do offer him the ſeruices and cuſtomes due. And if the chiefe Lorde exacte more then the meane ought to do, ỹ tenāt in ſuch caſe ſhal haue againſt him al ſuch exceptions as the meane ſhould, & if the meane haue nothing within the kings dominion, ỹ tenāt ſhal neuertheles purchaſe his writ of Meſne, to ỹ ſherife of the ſame ſhire, wherin he is diſtrained, & if the Sheerif returne, that he hath nothing where by he may be ſummoned, then ſhall the tenant ſue his writ of Attachment, and if the Sherif returne, that he hath nothing to be

And if the meane haue no land in the ſhire, where the diſtres is take, but hath land in ſome other ſhire, the a writ original ſhal iſſue to ſõmon the meane, vnto the ſherife of ỳ ſame ſhire (where the diſtreſſe is taken) and when it is retourned by ỳ ſherife, ỳ he hath nothing in his ſhire, a writ iudicial ſhal iſſue to ſommon the meane, vnto the ſherife of ỳ ſame ſhire, in which it ſhalbe teſtyfied ỳ he hath land, & ſuit ſhalbee made in the ſame ſhire, vntil they haue paſſed vnto the great diſtres, & proclamation as aboue is ſayd, where the meane hath land in the ſame ſhire in which the diſtreſſe is taken. And nevertheleſſe ſuit ſhalbe made in ỳ ſame ſhire, where he hath nothing, as aboue is ſaid of ỳ meane, ỳ hath nothing, vntil the proces come to ỳ great diſtreſſe & proclamation, & ſo after proclamation made in both counties, the meane ſhall be forjudged of his fee & ſeruice. And where it happeneth many times, ỳ ỳ tenãt in demeane is in feoffed to hold by leſſe ſeruices, then the meane ought to do vnto the chiefe Lord, when after ſuch proclamation the tenant hath attourned to the chiefe Lord, & the meane beinge excluded, the tenaunt muſt of neceſſitie aunſwere to the chiefe lord, for al ſuch ſeruices & cuſtomes, as the meane was wont to do to him. And after ỳ the meane is come into the court, & hath cõfeſſed, that he ought to acquite his tenaunt, or be compelled by iudgement to acquite, if after ſuch confeſſion or iudgement it is complained, ỳ the meſne doth not acquite his tenant, the ſhal iſſue a writ iudicial, that ỳ ſherife ſhall diſtraine the meane to acquite the tenant, & to be at a certaine day before the Iuſticers, for to ſhewe why he hath not acquited him before, & when they haue proceded vnto ỳ great diſtreſſe the plaintife ſhalbee heard. And if the plaintife can proue, that he hath not acquited him, he ſhal yeld damages, and by a ward of the court, the tenaunt ſhal goe quite from the meane, & ſhal attourne vnto the chiefe Lorde. And if he come not at the firſt diſtres, a writ ſhal go forth to diſtraine him againe, & proclamation ſhalbe made, & as ſone as it is returned, they ſhal proceede in iudgement as before is ſaid. And it is to be vnderſtanden, that by this ſtatut tenãts are not excluded, but they ſhall haue a warranttie of the meanes & their heires, if they be impleaded as they haue had before, nor alſo the tenaunts, but that they may ſue againſt their meanes, as they vſed heretofore, if they ſee that their proceſſe may bee more auailable by the olde Cuſtome, then by this eſtatute. And it is to weete, that by this eſtatut, no remedy is prouided to any meanes, but only in caſe where there is but one only meane betweene the Lorde that diſtraineth, and the tenaunt, and but in ſuch caſe where the meane is of ful age, and but in ſuch caſe where the tenant may attourne vnto the chiefe lord without preiudice of an other thẽ of his meane, which is ſpoken for weomen, holding in dower, and tenauntes by the curteſy or otherwiſe for terme of life or in fee taile, vnto whom for certaine cauſes, remedy is not yet prouided, but (God willing) there ſhalbe at an other time. And when he shall come to any of these places, he shall well and lawfully shewe his money to him, that shalbe assigned by the king, without any concealement, vpon paine of forfeiture of his body, and that which he hath, and that from thence he cary not, nor eloigne the same by him selfe nor by other, vntill that his money be viewed and examined by him whom the king shall assigne. And further, that it be cryed and defended on the kings behalfe vppon paine of forfaiture of his body, and that which he hath, that no man be so hardy to send money betweene clothes in fardels, or in bales, or in any other maner, whereof suspicion may be of any concealment, And if there be any such found, he which found the same, shall haue foure pence of the pound, and the rest to be to the king, And also that it be cried and commaunded on the kings behalfe, that if any find money coyned of any other coyne, then of the coyne of the kyng of England, Ireland, and Scotlande, or rounded money, that hee breake the same, and that none be so hardy to againe saye the same, vpon payne of greuouse forfaiture, and he which findeth the same false, shall breake the same, the broken money shall be giuen to him who oweth it, and the false money shalbe perced without restoring it, and the body of him in whose hands the false or clipped money appeareth to bee found, be taken and holden vntill such time as he can find suertie, if he be a suspicious man. And becauſe that many of the poore and rich people can not knowe the light and clipped money, now it is ordayned, that hereafter he which ought to receiue or pay money, shall receiue and pay the same by waight of fiue shillings of euen waight by the Tumberell, deliuered by the warden of the Eschaunge, marked with the kings marke, as the measures are, and it shalbe lawfull to any man to perse the money which shall not weigh the Tumbrell, and the money of other coyne, then of the coyne of the Kyng of England, Ireland and Scotland, the waight shalbee aswell deliuered and marked by the Warden of the Eschange as the Tumbrell, The viewer and the warden of the money which shal come from beyond the sea, when he shall haue any, he shall haue regard vnto the age thereof, and shall waigh the same, and if he find of the newe money, that the pound waieth not xx.s. by the number of foure pence, then he shal haue regard by the Tumbrell, where the default shalbe, and if he see money which is much vsed, if in the whole pound of xx.s. it wants but sixe pence, then it shalbee deliuered to him who brought the same, without gaine saying, And if it want more, it shalbe done of them, as of the rest. Gallihalfes pence Scottish money

27 ¶ Gallyhalfepence, and the money called Sulkine and Dotkine, and al maner of Scottish money of Siluer shalbe put out, and not to bee currant hereafter, for any payment in the Realme of England. Joyned to the same, that proclamation be made through all the counties of England, within the franchises and without, and els where, that all that haue gallyhalfpence, sulkins, or dotkins, shall bring them to the kings eschanges, betwixt this and the feast of Easter next ensuing, there to be broken, and that that is found good siluer, there to be striken and coyned in English halfepence. And all they which after the sayd feast of Easter, do make, coyne, buy, or bring into the Realme of England, any Gallyhalfepence, Sulkins, or Dockins, to sell them, or put them in payment in the same Realme, and thereof be attainted, they shalbe iudged as Felons of our soueraigne Lord the king, and shall forfait all their lands and tenements, goods and cattels. And that the lords of whom such lands and tenements be holden, shal haue and enioy the forfaitures, as in other cases of Felony. And if any of the kings liege people or other person, put Gallyhalfepence, Sulkins, or Dockins in paiment, or them receiue in paiment within the realme of England, and thereof bee duely attainted, they shall forfait at euery time that they make such paymens or receipt an C. shillings, whereof our soueraigne lorde the king shall haue the one halfe, and he that will sue for the king, thereof to attaint them, shall haue the other halfe, and that aswell the Iustices of peace, within all the counties of England, as Maiors and bailifes within Cities and boroughs, and Stewards of of Lords in their views of Frankpledge, shall haue power to enquire by good enquestes to be taken before them, of all the matters aforesaid. And that the sayd Maiors and baylifes, after the saide enquests before them taken, shall send the same inquisitions before the Iustices of peace of the counties, in which the said Cities and boroughs be. And that the sayd Iustices of peace of the counties, haue power, aswell of the said inquisitions so taken before such Maiors and Bailiffes, and sent before the sayd Iustices, (as afore is said) as vpon other iniquisions before the same Iustices of peace in their Sessions to be taken, touching the said matters, to make proces, and to awarde the Capias and Exigent, and to heare and determine all the matters according to their discretion, as in other cases of Felonies and trespasses hath bene vsed before this time. 2 HENRY by the grace of God, king of Englande, Lord of Ireland, Duke of Guyan & Normandy, Earle of Angeo, to his trusty & welbeloued Gerard sonne of Maurice Justycer of Ireland, greeting. Whereas certaine knightes of the partyes of Irelande, haue lately informed vs, that when any land doth discend vnto sisters within our dominion of Ireland, the Justices erraunt in those partyes are in doubt, whether the younger sisters ought to holde of the eldest sister, and doe homage vnto her or not: And for as much as the sayd knyghtes haue made instance to be certified, howe it hath bene vsed heretofore with in our Realme of England in like case, at their instaunce, we do you to witte, that such a lawe and custome is in England in this case, that if any holding of vs in chiefe, happen to die, hauing daughters to his heires, our auncestours and we, after the death of the father, haue alway had and receiued homage of all the daughters, and euery of thē in this case did hold of vs in chiefe. And if they happen to be within age, wee haue alway had the ward and marryage of them. And if he be tennaunt vnto another Lord, (the sisters being within age) the Lord shall haue the warde and marriage of them all, and the eldest onely shall doe homage for herselfe, and all her sisters. And when the other sisters come to full age, they shall doe their seruice to the Lordes of the fee by the handes of the eldest sister. Yet shall not the eldest by this occasion exacte of her younger sisters homage, warde, or any other subiection, for when they be al sisters, and in maner as one heire to one inheritaunce, if the eldest shoulde haue homage of the other sisters, or demaunde warde, then the inheritance shoulde seeme to be deuided, so that the eldest sister should be segniories, and tenaunt of inheritaunce, (simul & semel) that is to saye, heire of her owne parte, and segniories to her sisters, which coulde not stande well together in this case, for the eldest can demaunde no more then her sisters, but the chiefe meane by reason

Moreouer if the elder sister shoulde take homage of the younger, she should be as a segniores to them all, and should haue the ward of thē and their heires, which should be none other, but to call the lambe to ꝑ woolfe to be deuoured. And therefore we command you, that you cause the foresaid customes that be vsed within our Realme of Englād in this case, to be proclaimed throughout our dominion of Ireland, and to be straightly kept and obserued. And afterwarde the same our soueraigne Lorde the King by the aduise and consent of his counsell, sent his letters of priuie seale, directed to diuerse persons of the saide forrest, to make open proclamation, that no man of the said forrest should be so hardie, to inquire or disturbe his people to passe by the riuer with all manner of corne, goods, and cattels, or any other marchandise, vpon the paine of treason: after which proclamation so made, the saide trespassours came to the sayd riuer, with more greater routes and riottes, then euer they did before, not esteeming nor regarding the sayde letters of priuie Seale, and there spoiled at diuerse times eight troughs of wheat, rye, flowre, and diuerse other goods and cattels, and the people of the same troughes did throw ouer the borde, and diuerse of them drowned, and the sternes of the said troughes did cut away, and did threaten the owner of the sayde goods and cattels, and also the people of the saide troughes, that they should not be so hardie, to carrie no maner of vitaile by ỳ said streame, much nor little, for Lorde, nor for Ladie. And that they woulde hewe all to pieces the saide boates, if they came another time by the coastes of the saide Forrest of Deane: for the which Riotte and Rebellion no person of the saide Towne of Tewkesburie, nor of the Countrey adioyning, dare not carrie any Corne, nor other goods nor cattels in the said Riuer, nor pursue to haue remedie for such oppressions and grieues to them done, forasmuch as the said forrest of Deane, and hundreds be verie large, & the people inhabiting & resiant in ỳ same, very wild, & nigh adioining to ỳ countrey of Wales. And all the commons of the same forrest and hundreds of one affinitie, and confederacie in malice and riotte, not pondering nor regarding the lawe, nor the officers and ministers of the same, nor caring of the processe, nor punishement of the Lawe of the lande, in so much that they will not obey but at their owne wil, any minister of the kinges lawes, nor execution of the same, nor the Officers nor ministers of the lawe of the saide Countye, dare not in any wise come into the sayde Forrest, to execute any matter or processe of the lawe, against the will and intent of the Commons of the Forrest, and hundred aforesayde: Our soueraigne Lorde the king, hauing tender respecte and consideration of the said mischiefes, and also considering the inconueniences, which be like to ensue and followe vpon the same, and vpon that willing to resist ỳ malice of such transgressours and offendours, and to prouide hastie & conuenable remedy for his sayde faithfull liege people, so grieued in this behalfe, by ỳ aduise and assent of the lords spirituall and temporall, being in this present Parliament, and at the special request of the said commons there assembled, hath ordeyned by authoritie of the same Parliament, that in euery such case hereafter to come, or else had, or chaunced the last yeere passed, the Shirife of the said county, or the Baylifes of the towne of Gloucester, for the tyme beeing, or one of them, vpon paine of forfeiture of twenty pound, to be leuied leuied of their landes, goods, and cattels, to the vse of our Soueraigne Lorde the king, make Proclamation at the saide towne of Glouceſter, within foure daies next after notification made to them, or to any of them by the persons so indamaged, or by any other in their names, of such iniuries and trespasses done, that the saide trespassours and offendours shall restore in the same towne of Glouceſter, within fifteene dayes after the saide Proclamation, to the saide persons so indammaged, their sayd corne and marchandises, goods, and cattels so taken, or the very value of the same, with reasonable amendes for their dammages of such taking. After which proclamation, if the sayd trespassours doe not restore the said corne and marchandises, goods and cattels, or ỳ value of the same, to the parties so grieued in ỳ forme aforesaid, with reasonable amendes for their dãmages, nor that the said trespassours be not brought to the kinges prisons to the Castell of Glouceſter for the said trespasses, by the officers of the said Forest and hundreds, or by the comminalties of the same, to be demeaned in such case by the king & his counsell, that then by consideration of the statute of Wincheſter, put for the robberie of any person, which giueth an action for him which is robbed, agaynst the hundred, within which the same robberie is done, after the forme of ỳ same statute, the said comminalties shall be charged of the same corne and marchandises, goods and cattels so taken, or of the very value of the same, to the parties so grieued, to satisfie them of their dãmages for the same taking: And that the said parties so indãmaged and grieued, may haue their generall actions of debt, against the sayd comminalties of the sayd forest and hundred, of the summe of money, to which the value of the corne, marchandises, goods and cattels so taken do extend. And although the said comminalties be no comminalties corporate, yet they shall haue proces in such actions of debt, by summons, attachements and distresse, as if he were to haue an action of debt at ỳ common law, so that if the said comminalties make default at ỳ second distresse in such actions, that then the partie which shall sue, shall haue iudgement to receiue his debte against the saide comminalties, after the supposall of their goods, in the forme aforesaid, with his reasonable doʒages and expences. And whatsoeuer yssue triable by enquest in the saide forestes and hundreds shal happen to be taken to such actions, it shall be tryed by enquest of the bodie of the said countie out of the same forest and hundreds. And that the goods and cattelles of euery singular person, of the said comminalties for the time being, shall be had, taken, and holden in lawe conuicte, as the common goods and cattels of the same comminalties, touching the returne, seruing, and all executions of writtes, processe, and iudgements, in and of the said actions. And that euery singular person of the said forest and cõminalties, haue power by the authoritie of the saide Parliament, to attache and arrest the said trespassers by their bodies, as wel within the said forest as without, and them so arrested to committe to the said prison. And ỳ the keeper of the same prison vpon payne of forte pound, to be leuyed of his goods and cattels, landes and tenements, to the vse of our Soueraigne Lord the king, shall safely keepe euery person so committed to his custodie, till the time that the king or his counsaile hath ordeined or prouided their deliuerance of recorde. And if the goods or cattels of any singular person or persons of the said forest and hundreds, being not guiltie of the said robberies, happen to be put in execution, because of any such actions and iudgementes, that then the saide person or persons so being not guiltie, may haue their speciall action of debt or trespas vpon their case, of the goods and cattels so put in execution, against the saide trespassours, to recouer their dammages, as well for the value of the goods or cattels so put in execution, as for their dammages and costs which happened to be had because of such actions of debt, and they shall haue such processe in

5 ¶ The king our souereigne Lord by thaduise &c. duely pondering among other thinges necessary for the common welth of this realme, ẏ it is very expedient & needeful to prouide for men expert in ẏ science of physicke and surgery, for the healthy of mans body when infirmity and sickenesse shall happen, for the due exercise and maintenance whereof, good and necessary actes be already made and prouided: Yet neuertheless, forasmuch as London within the Citie of London where men of great experience as well in speculation as in practise of the science and faculte of surgerie, be abyding and inhabiting, and haue more commonly the daylie exercise and experience of the same science of surgerie then is had or vsed within other partes of this Realme, and by occasion thereof many expert persõs be brought vp vnder them, as their seruantes, apprentices, and others, who by ẏ exercise & diligent informatiõ of their sayd masters, aswell now as hereafter shall exercise ẏ said sciẽce within diuers other parties of this Realme, to ẏ great reliefe, comfort, and succour of much people, and to the sure safegard of their bodily health, their limmes and liues: And forasmuch as within the saide Citie

And by the same name to implead & be impleaded, before al maner of Justices, in al courtes, in al maner of accions and suites. And also to purchase, enioy & take to them & to their successors al maner of lands, tenements, rēts, & other possessiōs whatsoeuer they be, & also shal haue a cōmon seale to serue for ỳ busines of ỳ said cōpany & corporation for euer. And by ỳ same name peaceably, quietly, and indifferently, haue possession and enioy to them and to their successours for euer, all such landes and tenementes, and other hereditamentes, whatsoeuer, which the saide company or comminalty of barbors haue and enioy to the vse of the said mistery and comminalty of barbours of London. And also shal peaceably & quietly haue & enioy all & singuler benefits, grants, liberties, priuiledges, fraunchises and free customes, and also all maner of other things at any time giuen & granted vnto the said cōpanies of barbours or surgeons, by whatsoeuer name or names they, or any of them were called, & which they or any of them nowe haue, or any of their predecessours haue had by acts of parliamēt, letters patents of the kings highnesse, or other his most noble progenitours, or otherwise by any lawfull meanes haue had at any time afore this present act, in as large & ample maner & forme, as they or any of thē haue had, might or should enioy the same, this vnion or cōiunction of the same cōpanies together notwithstāding. And as largely to haue & enioy ỳ premisses, as if the same were & had bene specially & particularly expressed & declared with the best & most clearest words & termes in the law, to all intents & purposes. And that al persōs of the said cōpany nowe incorporate by this present act, & their successors, that shalbe lawfully admitted & approued to occupy surgery, after the forme of the statute in ỳ case ordeyned & prouided, shalbe exempt for bearing of armour, or to be put in any watches or inquestes. And that they and their successors shal haue the search, ouersight, punishment & correction, as wel of free men as of forreines, for such offences as they or any of them shal cōmit or do against the good order of barbery or surgery, as afore this time amōg the said mistery & company of barbours of London, hath bin vsed & accustomed, according to ỳ good & politike rules & ordinances by thē made, & approued by ỳ lord Chaūcellor, Treasorer, & ii. chiefe Justices of eyther bench, or any iii. of thē, after ỳ forme of ỳ statute in ỳ case ordeined & prouided. And further be it &c. that the said masters or gouernors of the sayd mistery & cōminalty of barbors & surgeons of Lōdon, & their successors yerely for euer, after their sayd discretions, at their free libertie and pleasure, shall & may haue & take without cōtradiction, iiii. persons cōdemned, adiudged & put to death for felony, by the due order of ỳ kīgs lawes of this realme, for anatomies, without any further suite or labour to be made to ỳ kings highnes, his

HEnricus Dei gratia &c. The king our Soueraygne Lorde considereth how dayly within this realme, his coyne is traiterously counterfayted: murders, robberies, felonies, bene grieuously committed & done, also vnlawfull retayners, idlenesse, vnlawfull playes, extortions, misdemeanings of Sheriffes, escheatours, and many other enormities and vnlawfull demeanings dayly groweth more & more within this his realme, to the great displeasure of God, hurt and impouerishing of his subiectes, and to the subuersion of the policie and good gouernaunce of this his Realme: and by these sayde enormities and mischiefs his peace is broken, his subiects troubled, inquieted, and impouerished, the husbandry of this land decayed, whereby the Church of England is vpholden, the seruice of God continued, euery man thereby hath sustenance, euery inheritour his rent for his land: For repressing and auoyding of the sayd mischiefes, sufficient lawes & ordinances be made by auctoritie of many and diuers Parliaments holden within this realme, to the great costs of the king, his lordes & commons of the same, & lacketh nothing, but that the sayde lawes be not put in due execution, which lawes ought to bee put in due execution by the Iustice of peace in euery shire of this realme, to whom his grace hath put and giuen full auctoritie so to do, sith the beginning of his raigne. And now it is cōmen to his knowledge, that his subiects be litle eased of the sayd mischiefe, by the said Iustices, but by many of them rather hurt then helped. And if his subiects complayne to these Iustices of peace, of any wronga done to them, they haue thereby no remedy, and the said mischiefes doe encrease and not subdued. The Kinges grace considereth, that a great part of the wealth and prosperitie of this lande standeth in that, that his subiects may liue in suertie, vnder his peace in their bodies and goods, and that the husbandry of this land may encrease and be vpholden, which must bee had by due execution of the sayd lawes and ordinances: chargeth & commaundeth the Iustices of peace of this his shire, to endeuour them to doe and execute the tenor of their commission, the sayd lawes and ordinances ordeyned for subduing of the premisses, as they will stand in loue and fauour of his grace, & in auoyding of the paynes that be ordayned if they doe the contrary. And ouer that, he chargeth and commandeth, that euery man, what degree or condition that he be of, that let them, in woorde or deede, to execute their sayd auctoritie in any maner or fourme abouesayd, that they shewe it to his grace. And if they doe it not, and it come to his knowledge by other then by them, they shall not stande in his fauour, but bee taken as men out of credence, and be put out of Commission for euer. And ouer this, hee chargeth and commaundeth all maner of men, as well the poore as the riche, which bee to him all one in due ministration of Iustice, that is hurt or grieued in any thing, that the sayde Iustice of peace may heare, determine, or execute in any wise, that he so grieued make his complaint to the Iustice of the peace, that next dwelleth vnto him, or to any of his fellowes, and desire a remedie, And if he then haue no remedy, if it be nygh such time as his Iustices of assises come into that Shire, that then he so grieued shewe his complaynt to the same Iustices. And if he then haue no remedy, or if the complaynt be made long before the comming of the Iustices of Assise, then he so grieued come to the Kinges highnesse, or of his raigne, holden at Karlile, the petition heard, put before the said graundfather and his counsaile by the communalty of his said realme contayned, ꝓ whereas ꝓ holy church of England was founded in the estate of prelacie within the realme of England by the said graundfather and his progenitoures, & the Earles, Barons, and other nobles of his saide realme and their auncestors, for them to enioyne the people of the lawe of God, and for to make hospitalities, almes and other woykes of charitie in the places where the churches were founded, for the soules of the founders, their heires, and of all christen, & certaine possessions, as much in fees, lands, rents, as in aduowsons, which do extend to a great value, were assigned by the said founders to the Prelats & other people of ꝓ holy Church of the said Realme, to sustaine the same charge, and especially of the possessions which were assigned to Archbishopps, Bishoppes, abbots, priors, religious and al other people of holy church, by the kings of the saide Realme, Earles, Barrons & other great men of his Realme, the same kinges, Earles, Barrons, and other nobles, as lords, aduowees, haue had and ought to haue the custodie of such voydaunces and the presentmentes and the collations of the benefices being of such prelacies. And the said kinges in tymes past were wont to haue ꝓ greatest part of their counsaile, for the sauegard of the Realme, when they had neede of such prelacies and clerkes so aduaunced: The Bishop of Rome vsurping the seigniories of such possessions and benefices, do giue and grant the same benefices to alyens which did neuer dwel in Englād, and to Cardinals which might not dwell here, and to other as well aliens as denizens, as if he had bene patrone, or aduowee of the saide dignities & benefices, as he was not of right after the lawe of England, whereby if they should be suffred, there should vneth be any benefice within a short time in the saide Realme, but that it should be in ꝓ handes of aliens & denizens by vertue of such prouisions, against the good will and disposition of the founders of the same benefices. And so ꝓ elections of archbishops, Bishops, & other religious should faile, & ꝓ almes, hospitales, and other woykes of charitie, which should be done in the saide places should be withdrawen, the said graundfather, and other lay patrons, in the time of such voidances shoulde lose their presentmentes, ꝓ said counsell should perish, and goods without number should be caried out of the realme, in annullation of the estate of ꝓ holy Church of England, and vtterlon of the said graundfather, and the Earles, barrons, & other nobles of the said realme, and in offence and destruction of the lawes and rightes of his realme, and against the good disposition and will of the first founders: By the assent of the Earles, Barrons and other nobles, and of all the said comminalty, at their instances & requestes, the dammage and grieuances aforesaide considered in the said ful parliament, it was ordained, that the said oppressions, grieuances, and dammage in ꝓ same realme from henceforth shoulde not be suffered in any maner. And now it is shewed to our Soueraigne lord the king in this present parliament holden at Westminster, at the vtas of the Purification of our Lady the xxv. yere of his raigne of England, and of France the xii. by the grieuous complaintes of al the cōmons of this realme, that the greeuances & mischiefes aforesaid do daily abound, to more greater dāmage and destruction of all this Realme, more then euer were before. ℣. ꝓ now late Bishop of Rome, by procurement of Clerkes & otherwise, hath reserued and doth daily reserue to his collation generally and specially, as well archbishopriks, Abdies, and priories, as all other dignities & other benefices of England, which be of the aduowry of people of holy church, and giue the same as well to aliens as to denizens, and taketh of all such benefices the first fruites, and many other profites, and a great part of the treasure of the Realme is caried away & dispended out of the realme by the purchasours vsours of such graces, and also by such priuy reseruations many clerks auanced in this Realme, by their true patrones which haue peaceably holden their auãcements by long time, be sodenly put out: wherevpon the said cõmons haue prayed our said Soueraigne lord the king, that sith the right of the crowne of England, and the lawe of the saide realme is such, that vpon the mischieuus & dammage, which happeneth to his realme, he ought and is bounden of the accord of his saide people in his parliamẽt thereof to make remedy, and lawe of voyding the mischieues & dammage, which therof commeth, that it may please him thereupon to ordaine remedy: Our soueraigne lord the king, seeing the mischieues and dammage before named, and having regard to the said statute, made in the time of his said graundfather, and to the causes contained in the same, which statute holdeth alwaies his force, and was neuer defeated nor annulled in any point, and by so much he is bounden by his othe to doe the same to be kept as the lawe of his Realme, though that by sufferance and negligence it hath bene sithence attempted to the contrary, also hauing regard to ỳ grieuous cõplaints made to him by his people in diuers his parliaments holden heretofore, willing to ordaine remedy for the great dammage & mischieues, which haue happened & daily do happen to ỳ church of England by ỳ saide cause, By the assent of al the great men, & the comminalty of the saide Realme, to the honour of God & profit of the said church of England, and of al his Realme, hath ordered and stablished, that the free elections of archbishops, bishops and al other dignities and benefices electifie in England, shall holde from henceforth in the maner as they were grãted by the kings progenitours, & founded by the auncesters of other lords: And that all prelates and other people of holy church, which haue aduousons of any benefices of the kings gift, or of any of his progenitors, or of other lords and honours, to doe deuine seruices and other charges thereof ordained, shall haue their collations and presentments freely in the maner as they were enfeoffed by their donours. And in case that reseruation, collation, or prouision be made by the court of Rome, of any archbishoppicke, bishoppicke, dignity or other benefice, in disturbance of the election, collations, or presentations afore named, that at the time of the voydounce that such reseruations, collatiõs, and prouisions, ought to take effect, our soueraigne lord the king and his heires, shall haue and enioy for the same time the collations to the archebishoppickes and other dignities electifie, which be of his auowry, such as his progenitors had before ỳ free electiõ was granted, sithence that the elections were first granted by the kinges progenitors vpon a certaine forme and condition, as to demaund licence of the king to choose, and after the election to haue his royall assent, and not in other maner. Which conditions not kept, the king ought by reason to resort to his first nature. And if any such reseruation, prouision, or collation be made of any house of religion of the kinges auowry in disturbance of the free election, our soueraigne lord the king and his heires shall haue for that time the collation to giue this dignity to a conuenient person, and in case that collation, reseruation, or prouision be made to ỳ Court of Rome of any church, prebend or other benefices, which bee of the auowry of people of holy church, whereof the king is auowee paramount immediat, that at the same time of the voydance, at which time the collation, reseruation, or prouision ought to take effect as afore is saide, the king and his heires thereof shall haue the presentmẽt or collation for that time. And so from time to time whensoeuer such people of holy church shalbe disturbed of their presentments, or collations by such reseruations, collations, or prouisions, as afore is said. Sauing to them the right of their auowsons and their presentments, when no collation or prouision of the court of Rome is thereof made, where that the said people of holy church

And that their presentees may enioy the effect of their collations or presentments: And in the same maner euery other Lorde, of what condicion that he be, shall haue the collations or presentmentes to the houses of religion which be of his aduowry, and other benefices of holy Church, which be pertaining to the same houses. And if such aduowees do not present to such benefices within the halfe yere after such voydances, nor the Bishop of the place do not giue ỳ same by lapse of time within a moneth after halfe a yere: that then the king shall haue thereof the presentments and collations as he hath of other of his owne aduowry. And in case that the presentees of the king, or the presentees of other patrons of holy church, or of their aduowees, or they to whom the king or such patrons or aduowees aforesaid haue giuen benefices, pertaining to their presentments or collations be disturbed by such prouisors: so that they may not haue possessiō of such benefices by vertue of the presentments or collatiō so to them made, or that they which be in possession of such benefices, be impeched vpon their said possessions by such prouisours, then the said prouisors, their procuratours, executors, and notaries shal be attached by their body, and brought in to answere. And if they be conuict, they shall abide in prison without being let to mainprise or bayle, or otherwise deliuered, till ỳ they haue made fine & ransome to ỳ king at his wil, & gree to ỳ partie ỳ shal feele him self grieued. And neuertheles before that they be deliuered, they shal make full renunciation & find sufficient suerty, that they shall not attempt such things in times to cōe, nor sue no proces by them nor by other against any man in the court of Rome, nor in no part elsewhere, for any such imprisonmentes or renunciations, nor any other thing depending of them. And in case that such prouisors, procurators, executors, & notaries be not found, that the exigend shal renne against thē by due proces, & that writtes shal go forth to take their bodies, in what partes that they be founde, as well at the kinges suite, as at the suite of the partie. And that in the meane time the king haue ỳ profits of such benefices so occupied by such prouisors, except abbeys, priories, & other houses, which haue colledges or couents. And in such houses the colledges & couents, shall haue the profits. Sauing alwaies to our soueraigne lord the king, and to all other lordes, their olde right. And this statute shall haue place, as well of reseruations, collations, and prouisions made and graunted in times past against all them, which haue not yet obteined corporall possessions of the benefices graunted to them by the same reseruations, collations, and prouisions, as against al other in time to come. the xxv. and xxvii. yeere of his raygne:
Our soueraigne Lord the king, by the al-sent and expresse will and concord of the dukes, dukes, earles, barones, and the commōs of his realme, & of all other whom these things toucheth, by good and meere deliberation & assesment, hath approued, accepted, & confirmed: sauing the estate of the prelates & other lords of ꝑ realme, touching the liberty of their bodies, so ꝑ by force of this statute their bodies be not taken. Ioyning to the same, hath prouided and ordained, that al they which haue obtayned, purchased, or pursued such personall citations or other in any times past, or hereafter shall obtaine, purchase or pursue such like, against him or any of his subiectes, and also al they that haue obtayned, or shal obtaine in ꝑ said Court, Deanries, Archdeaconries, Prouostries, and other dignities, offices, chappels, or benefices of holy church, pertaining to the collation, gift, presentation, or disposition of our said soueraigne Lorde the king, or of other lay patron of his said Realme, & also al like persons, obteyners of Churches, chappels, offices, or benefices of holy Church, pencions, or rents amortised, & appropried to churches cathedrall, or collegiall, abbeys, priories, chaunteries, hospitals, or other pome houses, before that such appropriations, amortisementes be void & annulled by due processe, also all they which haue obtained in the same court, dignities, offices, hospitals, & any benefices of churches which be occupyed at this present season by reasonable tytle, by any persōs of the said Realme, if such impetrations be not fully executed, or shall obtaine hereafter like benefice, whereby preiudice, dammage, or impeichment hath bin or may be done hereafter to him or to his saide subiects in persons, heritages, possessions, rights or any goods, or to the lawes, vsages, customes, fraunchises, & liberties of his saide Realme, and of his crowne, also al their maintainours, cossellers, abbettours, & other ayders and fautours wittingly aswell at the suite of the king as of the party, or other whatsoeuer he be of the realme, finding pledges & surety to pursue against them: in this case all the saide persons defamed & violently suspected of such impetratiōs, pursuites or greeuances by suspection, shal be arrested and taken by the shirifes, of the places & iustices in their sessions, deputies, bayliffes and other the kings ministers, by good & sufficient mainepryse, repleuin, bayle, or other suerty, (the shortest that may be,) & shalbe presented to the king & his councell, there to remaine & stand to right, to receiue what the lawe will giue them. And if they be attainted or conuict of any of ꝑ said things, they shal haue ꝑ paine compiled in ꝑ statute made in the xxii. yere of the raigne of our saide soueraigne Lord the king, which beginneth, Where as late in ꝑ parliamēt &c. nefice or dignitie cõtrary to the saide Statute, made the sayd xxb. yere, as afore is said, which Statute our soueraigne Lorde the king hath done to be recited in this present parliament, at the request of his commons in the same Parliament: The tenour whereof is such as hereafter followeth. Where as late in the parliament of good memory of Edward king of England &c. rehearsing ỹ whole Statute made the sayd xxb. yeere, and then thus: Our soueraigne lord the king that now is, of the assent of the great men of his realme being in this present parliament, hath ordeined and stablished, that all archebishopricks, bishoppicks and other dignities and benefices electife, & all other benefices of holy church which shal begin to be void in deede the xxix. day of January, ỹ xiii. yere of the raigne of our soueraigne Lord the king that now is, or after, or which shalbe voyde in time to come within the realme of England, the said Statute made the said xxb. yere shalbe firmely holden for euer, & put in due execution from time to time in all maner pointes. And if any make any acceptatiõ of any benefice of holy church, contrary to this Statute, and that duely proued, and be beyond the sea, he shall abide exyled and banished out of ỹ realme for euer, his lands and tenements, goods and cattels forfeit to the king: and if he be within the Realme, he shalbe also exiled and banished as afore is said, and shall incurre the same forfaiture, & take his way, so that he be out of the realme within vi. weekes next after such acceptation. And if any receiue any such person banished, cõming from beyond the Sea, or beeing within the realme after ỹ said vi. weekes, knowing therof, he shalbe also exiled and banished, and incurre such forfaiture as afore is said. And that their procuratours, Notaries, executours, and Summoners haue the paine and forfaiture afore sayd. Prouided neuertheless that all they, to whom the Pope of Rome, or his predecessours, haue prouided any Archebishopricke, Bishoppicke, or other dignitie, or other benefices of holy Church, of the patronage of people of holy Church, because of any voidance before the said xxix. day of January, and thereof were in corporal possession before the same xxix. day, shall haue and enioy the sayd Archbishopricks, Bishoppicks, dignities, and other benefices peaceably for their lines, notwithstanding the statutes and ordinances aforesaid. And if the king send by letter or in other maner to the Court of Rome at the intercession of any person, or if any other send or pray to the same court whereby any thing is done contrary to this statute touching any archbishoppick, bishoprike, dignitie or other benefice of holy church within the sayd realme, if he that maketh such excitation or prayer be a Prelate of holy Church, he shall pay to the king ỹ valour of his temporalties of one yere, and if he be a temporall Lord, he shal pay the king the valour of his landes and possessions vnmouable of one yeere. And it is the intent of this Statute, that of all dignities and benefices of holy Church, which were void in deede the said xxix. day of January, which be giuen, or to whom it is prouided, by the Pope of Rome before the same xxix. day, that they to whom such gifts or prouisiõs be made, may freely of such gifts and prouisions sue execution without offence of this statute. Prouided alwaies that of no dignitie or benefice, which was full ỹ said xxix. day of January, no man because of any collation, gift, reseruatiõ & prouisiõ, or other grace Papal, not executed before the saide xxix. day, shall not sue thereof execution, vpon the paines & forfeitures contained in this present statute. 14 ¶ Where as the commons of the realme in this present Parliament haue shewed to our redoubted soueraigne lord the King, grecuously complaining that whereas the said our lord the king and al his liege people ought of right, & alwaies were wont to sue in the kings Court, to recouer their presentments to churches, Prebends, and other benefices of holy church, to the which they haue right to present, the conisaunce of plea of which presentment, belongeth only to the kings Court of the auncient right of his owne crowne vsed and approued in the time of his progenitours Kinges of Englande: And when iudgement hath bene giuen in the same Court vpon such plea, and presentment, the archbishops, bishops and other spirituall persons which haue the institution of such benefices within their iurisdictions, be bound and haue made execution of such iudgements by ỹ kings commaundements all the time afore said, without interruption, (for a lay person may not make such execution) and also be bound of right to make execution of many other of the Kings commaundements, of which right the crowne of England hath bene peaceably seased as well in the time of our sayd Soueraigne lord the king that now is, as in the time of all his progenitours till this day: But nowe of late, diuers Processes be made by the Bishop of Rome, and censures of excommunication, vpon certaine bishops of England, because that they haue made execution of such commaundements, to the open disherison of the sayd Crowne, and destruction of the Regalitie of our sayde soueraigne Lord the king, his Lawe and al his realme, if remedie be not prouided:

Pope

And also it is saide, and a common clamour made, that the said bishop of Rome hath ordained and purposed to translate some prelats of the same realme, some of them out of the realme, & some from one Bishoprieke to another within the same realme, without the kings assent & knowledge, and without the assent of the Prelates which so shall be translated, which prelates be much profitable and necessary to our sayd soueraigne Lord the king, and to all his realme: by which translations (if they were suffered) the Statutes should be defeated and auoyded, and his wise liege men of his Councell, without his assent, and against his will withdrawen and gotten out of his Realme, and the substance and Treasour of the Realme borne away, and so the Realme destitute as well of Councell as of substance, to the finall destruction of the same Realme, And so the Crowne of Englande, which hath bene so free at all times, that it hath bene in subiection to no realme, but immediatly subiect to God and to none other in all things touching the regalty of the same crowne, should be submitted to the Bishop of Rome, and the lawes and statutes of the Realme by him defeated and frustrated at his will, to the perpetual destruction of the king our sayd soueraigne lord, his soueraintie, his crowne and regaltie, & of all his realme, which God defend: And moreouer the commons aforesaide haue saide that the things so attempted, be clearely against the kinges crowne and his regalty, vsed and approued in the time of all his progenitours: Wherefore they and al the liege commons of the same Realme will stand with our sayde Soueraigne Lorde the King, and his sayd Crowne, and his regalty in the cases aforesayde, and in all other cases attempted against him, his Crowne and his regalty in all points; to liue and to die. And moreouer they haue prayed the king, and him required by way of Justice, that he would examine all the Lords in the Parliament, as well Spirituall as temporall seuerally, and al the States of the Parliament, howe they thinke of the cases aforesaid, which be so openly against the kings crowne, and in derogation of his regaly, and howe they wil stand in the same cases with our Soueraigne Lord the king, in vpholding the rightes of the saide Crowne and regaly. Whereupon the Lords temporall so demaunded haue answered euery one by him selfe, that the Cases aforesayde bee clearely in derogation of the Kinges Crowne, and of his regaly, as it is well knowen, and hath bene of a long time knowen, and that they will stand with the same Crowne and regaly in these cases specially, and in al other cases which shal be attempted against the same Crowne and regaly in all pointes with all their power. And moreouer it was demaunded of the lords spiritual there being, and the procuratours of other being absent, their aduise and will in all these cases, which Lords, that is to say, the Archebishops, Bishops, and other Prelates, being in the Parliament seuerally examined, making protestations, that it is not their mind to deny or affirme that the Bishop of Rome may not excommunicate Bishops, nor that he may make translation of prelates, after the Law of holy church, answered and sayde, that if any executions of Processes made in the Kinges Court (as before) bee made by any, and Censures of excommunication be made against any Bishop of England, or any other of the kings liege people, for that that they haue made execution of such commaundementes: And that if any executions of such translations be made of any Prelates of the same Realme, which Prelates be very profitable and necessarie to our sayde Soueraigne Lorde the king and to his sayd Realme, or that his sage men of his Councell without his assent, and against his will bee withdrawen and eloyned out of the Realme, so that the Substance and Treasure of the Realme may be destroyed, that the same is against the king and his Crowne, as it is contained in the petition before named. And likewise the same procuratours euery one by him selfe examined vpon the sayde matters, haue answered and sayde in the name, and for their Lords as the sayd Bishops haue sayde and answered, and that the sayde Lordes Spirituall will and ought to stande with the King in these Cases lawfully in maintayning of his Crowne, and in all other Cases touching his Crowne and his Regaly as they bee bound by their liegeaunce. Whereupon our sayde Soueraygne Lorde the King, by the assent aforesayde, and at the prayer of his sayde Commons, hath ordayned and stablished, that if any purchase or pursue, or cause to be purchased or pursued in the Court of Rome, or else where, any such translations, processes, and sentences of excommunications, Bulles, instruments, or any other things which touch the King our Lord, against him, his Crowne, and his regaly or his Realme, as is aforesaid, and they which bring within the Realme or them receiue, or make thereof notification or any other execution within the same Realme or without, that they, their Notaries, Procuratours, maintainours, Abbettours, Fautours and Counsellers shalbe put out of the kings protection, and their Lands, and Tenements, goods and cattels forfait to the king, and that they bee attached by their bodies if they may be found, and brought before the king and his Counsell, there to answere to the cases aforesaide, or that processe be made against them by Premunire facias, in manor as it is ordayned in other Statutes of prouisours and others, which do sue in any other Court in derogation of the Regaly of our Soueraigne Lorde the king. Merchants

2 ¶ For as much as merchants, which heretofore haue lent their goods to diuers persons, be nowe fallen in pouerty because there is no speedy remedy prouided, whereby they may shortly recouer their debt at the day of payment assessed: And for this mischiefe many merchantes are loth to come into the Realme with their merchandise, to the great damage of such merchants and of all the realme: The king and his counsail, at his parliament holden at Acton Burnell, after the feast of saint Michaell the xi. yere of his raigne, hath ordayned these establishments, thereupon for the remedy of such merchants, which ordinances & establishments, the king commandeth that they shalbe firmely kept & obserued throughout his Realme, whereby merchantes may haue remedy, and lesse trouble and businesse to recouer their debts then they haue had heretofore. But for almuch as merchants afterward complained vnto ỳ king, ỳ shirifes misinterpreted his statutes, & sometime by malice & false interpretacion delayed ỳ execution of the statute to the great damage of merchants: The king at his parliament holden at Westminster after Easter, the xiii. yere of his raigne, caused ỳ said statute made at Acton Burnel, to be rehearsed. And the merchant shall find him bread & water, and the merchant shall haue such seasion in the landes & tenements deliuered vnto him, that he may maintaine a writte of nouell disseisin, if he be put out, and reuilldisin also, as of free hold, to holde to him & his assignes vntil the debt be payd. And as soone as ỳ debt is leuied, the body of the debtor shalbe deliuered with his lands. And in such writtes as the chancellor doth award, mencion shalbe made, that the shirife shall certifie the Justices of eyther bench, how he hath perfourmed the kings commaundement at a certaine day, at which day the merchant shal be afore ỳ Justices, if agreemẽt be not made. And if the sherifes do not returne ỳ writ, or doe returne ỳ the writte came to late, or that they haue directed it to ỳ bailliffes of some franchise, the iustices shall do as it is contained in ỳ statute of Westminster. And if the shirife returne that the debtor cannot be found, or ỳ he be clerke, the marchants shall haue writtes to all ỳ sherifes, or he shall haue the land, & that they shall deliuer al the goods and lands of ỳ debtor by a resonable extent, to hold vnto him and his assignes in the forme aforesaide, and at the least he shall haue a writ to what shirifie that he will, to take his body (if he be late) and to retaine it in maner aforesaid, and the keeper of the prison ought to take heede, that he must answere for the body or for the debt. And after that the debtors lands be deliuered to the merchant, the debtor may lawfully sell his land, for that the merchant haue no dammage of the appruements, & the merchants shall alwaies be allowed for their dammages, and all costes, labours, suites, delales, & expẽces resonable. And if ỳ debtour find suerties, after ỳ day passed, ỳ suerties shalbe ouered in al things as is said of ỳ principall debtor, as to the arrest of body, deliuery of landes, & other things. And whẽ the lands of the debtors be deliuered vnto ỳ marchãt, he shal haue seisin of all the lands that were in ỳ hand of the debtour, the day of the recognisance made, in whose hands soeuer ỳ they come afterward, eyther by feffement or otherwise, & after ỳ debt paid, the debtors lãds, & the issues there of by feffement shall returne againe, aswell to the feffee, as the other lands vnto the debtors, & if the debtor or his suerties die, the merchant shall haue none auctheritie to take the body of his heire, but he shal haue his lands, as before is said, if he be of age, or when he shal be of full age, vntill such time as he hath leuied of ỳ lands the amountance & value of the debt. And also another seale shalbe prouided, that shall serue for faires, & the same shalbe sent vnto euery faire vnder ỳ kings seale by a clerke sworne, or by the keeper of the faire. And of the cõminalties of Lõdon two merchants shalbe chosen, that shal sweare, & the seale shalbe opened before them, & the one peece shalbe deliuered vnto the foresaid merchantes, & the other shall remayne with the clerke. And before them or one of the marchantes (if both can not attend) the recognisaunces shall be taken, as before is sayde, and before that the recognisaunces be inrolled, the paine of the statute shalbe openly read before the debtour, so that afterwarde he shall not excuse himselfe by ignorancie of the paine, wherein he bound himselfe, & to maintaine the costs of the said clerke, the king shall take of euery li. i. d. in euery towne, where the seale is, except fayres, where he shal take i. d. ob. of ỳ li. This ordinance and act the king willeth to be obserued from henceforth throughout his realme of England & Ireland, amongst the which people they that will, may make such recognisances, (except Jues) to whom this ordinaunce shal not extend, and by this Statute a writte of debt shall not be abated, and the Chauncelor, Justices of either bench, and Justices errants shall not be stopped to take recognisances of debes before them knowledged and made, but the execution of recognisances made before them, shal not be done in the

IF any be diſſeiſed of their freehold, and before the Iuſticers in eire, haue recouered ſeyſing by aſſiſe of nouel diſſeiſin, or by confeſſion of them which did the diſſeiſin, & the diſſeiſe hath had ſeyſin deliuered by the ſhirife, if the ſame diſſeiſours after the circuit of the Iuſticers, or in the meane time haue diſſeiſed the ſame plaintife of the ſame freehold, and thereof be conuict, they ſhalbe forthwith taken and kept in the kings priſon, vntill the king hath diſcharged them by fine, or by ſome other meane. And this is the forme howe ſuch conuict perſons ſhall bee puniſhed, when the plaintifes come into the court, they ſhall haue the kings writ directed to the ſhirife, in which muſt be contayned the playnt of diſſeiſin done vpon diſſeiſin. And then it ſhalbe commaunded to the ſhirife, that he taking with him the keepers of pleas of the kings Crowne and other lawfull knights, in his proper perſon, ſhall goe vnto the land or paſture, for which the playnt hath bene made: And that he make by the firſt iurours and other neighbours, and lawfull men diligent inquiſition therof. And if they finde him diſſeiſed again (as before is ſaid) then let him doe according to the prouiſion afore mencioned. And if it be fonnd otherwiſe, the plaintife ſhalbe amerced, and the other ſhal go quite, neither ſhal the ſhirife execute any ſuch plaint without ſpeciall cõmaundement of the King. In the ſame maner ſhalbe done to them that haue recouered their ſeyſin by Aſſiſe of Mortdauncestour. And ſo ſhall it be of all lands and tenements recouered in the Kinges Court by enqueſtes, if they be diſſeiſed after by the firſt defoyceours, againſt whom they haue recouered any wiſe by enqueſt. in their liues, nor yet the heires of such testator, nor any person hauing the reuersion of his estate after his decease, may distraine, or haue any lawful action to leuy any such arrerages of rents or fee fermes, due vnto him in his life as is aforesaid, by reason wherof the tenants of the demeane of such lands, tenemẽts or hereditamẽts, out of the which such rents were due and payable, who of right ought to paie their Rents and Fermes at such dayes and termes as they were due, doe many times keepe, holde and retaine such arrerages in their owne hands, so that the executors and administratours, of the persons to whom such rentes or fee fermes were due, cannot haue or come by the sayd arrerages of ỹ same towards the paiments of the debts, and performance of the will of the said testatours. For remedy whereof be it &c. that the executours and administratours of euery such person or persons, vnto whom any such Rent or fee Ferme is or shalbe due, and not payed at the time of his death, shall and may haue an action of debt for all such arrerages against the tenant or tenants that ought to haue paied the said rent or fee ferme so being behind in the life of their testatour, or against the Executours and Administratours of the sayde tenants. And also furthermore it shall be lawfull to euery such Executour and Administratour of any such person or persons vnto whom such rent or fee ferme is or shalbe due, and not payed at the time of his death as is aforesayd, to distraine for the arrerages of all such Rents and fee Fermes, vpon the Lands, Tenements, and other Hereditaments, which were charged with the paiment of such Rents or fee Fermes, and chargeable to the distresse of the sayde testatour, so long as the sayd Lands, Tenements, or Hereditaments, continue, remayne, and be in the seyson or possession of the sayd tenant in demeane, who ought immediatly to haue payed the sayde rent or fee ferme so being behind to the sayde testatour in his life, or in the seison or possession of any other person or persons clayming the sayd Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments, onely by and from the same tenaunt by purchase, gift or discent, in like maner and forme as their

Prouided alway that this act nor any thing therin cõtayned, shall not extend to any such mannour, lordship or dominion in Wales, or in ỹ marches of the same, whereof the inhabitãts haue vsed time out of ỹ mind of man to pay vnto euery Lorde and owner of such lordship, mannour or dominion, at his or their first entrie into the same, any summe or summes of money for the redemption and discharge of all duties, for forfaitures and penalties wherewith the said inhabitants were chargeable to any of the sayd Lords auncestours or predecessours before his said entrie. And further be it &c. that if any man which nowe hath, or hereafter shall haue in the right of his wife, any estate in fee simple, fee taile, or for terme of life, of, or in any rents or fee fermes, and the same rents or fee fermes nowe be or hereafter shall be due, behind and vnpaied in the said wiues life: then the sayd husband after the death of his sayd wife, his executours and administratours, shall haue an action of debt for the sayd arrerages against the tenaunt of the demeane that ought to haue payed the same, his Executours or Administratours. And also the sayd husband after the death of his sayde wife, may distrayne for the sayd arrerages in like maner and forme as he mought haue done if his sayde wife had bene then liuing, and make auowry vpon his matter as is aforesayd. And likewise it is &c. that if any person or persons, which nowe hath, or hereafter shall haue any Rents or fee fermes for terme of life or liues of any other person or persons, and the said rent or fee ferme nowe be, or hereafter shalbe due, behind, and vnpaied in the life of such person or persons for whose life or liues the estate of the sayd rent or fee ferme did depend or continue. And after the sayde person or persons doth die, then he vnto whom the sayd rent or fee ferme was due in forme aforesaide, his executours and administrators, shall and may haue an action of debt against the tenant in demeane that ought to haue paied the same when it first was due, his executours and administrators, and also distraine for the same arrerages vpon such Lands, and Tenements, out of the which the said rents or fee fermes were issuing and payable, in such like maner and forme, as he ought or might haue done if such person or persons, by whose death the aforesaide estate in the saide rents & fee fermes was determined and expired, had bene in full life & not dead: And the auowry for the taking of the same distresse, to be made in maner and forme aforesaid. ¶ Repleuin of Cattell.

IF the beastes of any man be taken, and Beastes Ihirfs wrongfully withholden, the shirife after complainte made to him thereunto, may deliuer them without let or gaynsaying of him that tooke the beastes, if they were taken out of liberties. And if the Libertie beastes were taken within any liberties, and the baylifes of the liberty wil not de- Baillife Ihirifes liuer them, then the shirife for default of those bailifes shall cause them to be deliuered, Marlebridge, cap. 21.

2 ¶ For as much as Lordes of fees, Distreine Seruice distreining their tenants for seruices and customes due vnto them, are many times greeued, because their tenants do repleuie the distresse by writ or without writ: And when the Lords at the complaint of their tenants, do come by attachment into the countie, or vnto another court, hauing power to hold pleas of wythernam Withernam Know and doe auowe the taking good and lawfull: by reason that the tenants disauow and doe disclaime to holde ought of him (which tooke the distresse) and adiowed it, he that distreined is amerced, and the tenaunts goe quite, to whom punishmēt cannot be assigned for such disauowing by record of ỳ countie, or of other courts Countie Courtes hauing no record: It is prouided and ordeined from hencefoth, that where such lordes cannot obteine iustice in counties, and such maner of courtes against their tenants, as soone as they shalbe attached at the suite of their tenants, a writ shalbe graunted to them, to remoue the matter before the Justicers, afore whom & none other where, iustice may be ministred to such such lords. And the cause shalbe put in the writ, because such a man distreined in his fee for seruices and customes to him due. Neither is this act preiudicial to the law commonly vsed, wherby it is prohibited, that no plea shall be moued before Iusticers at the suite of the defendaunt: For though it appeare at the first face that the tenant is plaintife, and ỳ lord defendant: neuertheless, hauing respect to that, that the lord hath distreyned and sueth for seruices and customes being behind, he appeareth in deede to be rather plaintife thē defendant. And to the intent the iusticers may know, vpon what fresh seisin ỳ lords may auowe the distres good and lawfull vpon their tenantes: From henceforth it is agreed and enacted, that a reasonable distresse may be auowed vpon the seysin of any auncestour or predecessour, since ỳ time that a writte of nouell disseisin hath runne. And because it chaunceth many times, that the tenant, after that he hath repleuied his beastes, doth sell or alien them, whereby returne cannot be made vnto the lord that distreined, if it be aduiudged: It is prouided, that shirifes or baylifes frō henceforth shall not only receiue of the plaintifes pledges for the suite, before they make deliuerance of the distres, but also for the returne of the beasts, if returne be awarded. And if any take pledges otherwise, hee shall answere for the price of the beasts, and ỳ lord ỳ distreineth shall haue his recouerie by writ, that he shall restore vnto him so many beastes or cattel. And if the baylife be not able to restore, his lord shal restore. And forasmuch as it happeneth sometime, that after the returne of the beastes is awarded vnto ỳ distreinour, and the partie so distreyned, after that the beasts be returned, doth repleuie them agayne, and when he seeth the distreinour appearing in the Courte ready to answere him, doth make default, wherby returne of the beasts ought to be awarded againe vnto ỳ distreinour: And so the beasts be repleuied twise or thrise, and infinitely, and the iudgementes giuē in the kinges court take no effecte in this case, whereupon no remedy hath bene yet prouided: In this case such proces shal be awarded, ỳ so soone as returne of ỳ beasts shalbe awarded to ỳ distreiner, the shirife shall be commanded by a iudiciall writ, to make returne of the beasts vnto the distreiner, in which writ it shal be expressed, that ỳ shirife shall not deliuer thē without writ, making mention of the iudgement giuen by the Iusticers, which cannot be without a writ issuing out of the rolles of the said Iusticers, before whom the matter was moued. Therefore when he commeth vnto the Iusticers, and desireth repleuin of the beasts, he shall haue a iudiciall writ, that the shirife taking surety for the suit, and also of the beastes or cattel to be returned, or for the price of them (if returne be awarded) shall deliuer vnto him the beastes or cattell before returned, and the distreinor shalbe attached, to come at a certaine day before the Iusticers, afore whom the plea was moued in the presēce of the partues.
